

A black and white photograph of a group of men in suits. The man in the foreground on the right is older, with glasses, looking slightly to the side. Behind him and to the left, a younger man is smiling. Other men are visible in the background, some looking towards the camera. The text 'Merde humaine' is overlaid in large white letters across the lower half of the image.

Merde humaine