

A black and white close-up portrait of an elderly man. He has a weathered face with deep wrinkles, particularly around his eyes and forehead. His hair is thinning and grey. He is looking slightly to the right with a contemplative or perhaps weary expression. His right hand is raised, with his fingers behind his ear, as if he is listening intently or shielding his ear from noise. He is wearing a dark, textured garment, possibly a sweater. The background is a plain, dark grey.

Laquais
de
la
presse
bourgeoise